

MINSTRELS AT MINERS' HALL PLAY TO FAIR CROWD

CHILLY RECEPTION TENDERED DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES LAST NIGHT

Interlocutor—C. H. McIntosh.
Bones—Dickerson, Pittman, Davis and Baker.
Tambos—Ryan and Ross.

Such was the line-up at the democratic minstrels last evening at the Miners' Exchange hall. In accordance with the minstrels of old, a few time worn jokes were disbursed while the different players informed the gathering of their qualifications for office and prayed that they might be elected. The meeting was rather a cold affair and the infrequent bursts of applause, although weak, did not seem to bring out any enthusiasm.

When the gathering was called to order and C. H. McIntosh assumed the role of chairman, the hall was about half filled. The first row of chairs was empty and a local committeeman was sent in to occupy one and act as a decoy. He was partly successful for when the meeting adjourned two other chairs held occupants.

Dickerson made a statement that was considered somewhat startling. He admitted that the Southern Pacific had been in politics in Nevada for the last forty years, but failed to say anything about the fact that the democratic party had been in power for the last sixteen years. He referred to himself as the star performer of the democrats and then waited for the applause that never came. Prior to the meeting the democrats made arrangements for two official starters of the applause, and the two were on the job in proper shape. Every time a point was reached, and several times when there was no point in sight, the applauders started the noise.

Key Pittman was referred to as a poor man, making his campaign in the face of tremendous difficulties. His talk was on the school boy plan, and he raked Nixon fore and aft. He charged his opponent with every known crime under the sun and it is estimated that several tons of mud were used during his address. As the champion mud slinger he is entitled to the medal, but when it comes to receiving the votes, he will realize his mistake. He did not say what he would accomplish for the state if elected, confining his speech to other topics. Gilbert C. Ross, Cleve Baker, Dave Ryan and Sam Davis also spoke.

The Tonopah military band, which enlightened the occasion with spirited music, proved real interesting, but when it was observed that the audience preferred the music to the speeches, a halt was called.

SWITCH ENGINE DERAILS NUMBER OF ORE CARS

SMALL SIZED WRECK OCCURS IN LOCAL RAILROAD YARD YESTERDAY

While the switching crew of the Tonopah and Goldfield were engaged in the local yards yesterday, the switch engine bumped into a string of loaded ore cars and quite a wreck resulted. Several of the cars were injured, both externally and internally, while the track was torn up for quite a distance. A number of the cars were also derailed. The force of yard employees were immediately set to work in cleaning up the wreckage, replacing the track and placing the derailed cars back on the rails.

Fortunately, no one was injured when the accident happened.

GOOD STORY GOING THE ROUNDS ON CON AHERN

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE UNWITTINGLY DOES CAMPAIGN STUNT IN NEXT STATE

A good story is going the rounds on Con Ahern, candidate for the office of surveyor general, who is travelling with Senator Nixon's party in the western end of the county.

In order to get to Searchlight from Las Vegas it was necessary to go by train to Nipton, California, continuing the trip by automobile. Arriving at Nipton, Ahern, unaware that he was on California soil, spied a thirt emporium about 500 feet away. Seizing a couple of his portrait campaign cards, he called on the remainder of the party to join him and raced to the "fifteen-cent-store," intent on some fast campaigning.

The genial candidate introduced himself to the presiding genius behind the bar and in the same breath asked permission to put one of his cards in the window. Ahern then purchased Peruna and Spavin Cure for the crowd, but nearly fell dead a moment later when Senator Nixon, unable to control himself longer, jumped on a table and proposed three cheers for California. Everyone responded except Ahern, who was too dazed to even murmur.

RANKS OF THE REPUBLICANS ARE STRENGTHENING

ANOTHER ODDIE BOOSTER HAS ARRIVED AND WILL YELL FOR HIS ELECTION

"Hurrah for Oddie" was the greeting afforded Ralph Hussey this morning when the latest addition to the republican ranks arrived at his home this morning. And immediately the proud father hastened to the headquarters of the Nye County Republican club and recorded the name of the new arrival in the roster of members.

That the little fellow, who weighs ten pounds, is a staunch republican, is evidenced by his first conversation, for he is an Oddie booster through and through. Of course Papa Hussey refrained from talking politics for at least an hour in order to describe the baby, which, according to his statement, is a handsome youngster, and looks just like him.

Both Mrs. Hussey and the baby are progressing nicely. So is Mr. Hussey.

MISS HARNED WILL NOT COME TO TONOPAH

FAMOUS ACTRESS WILL LEAVE RENO AFTER INITIAL PERFORMANCE FOR EAST

Rehearsals are progressing fine for Virginia Harned's new play, "The Woman He Married," which will be given its opening at the Majestic theatre in Reno next Wednesday night. Everything is nearly in readiness for the big event.

Two additional scenic artists have arrived from San Francisco to put on the finishing touches for the scenery. The Majestic theatre stage has been about the busiest place in Reno for the past week getting in the scenery, props and other accessories in readiness for the opening night.

The company will carry everything that is used on the stage during the production of the play. In addition to scenery, all furniture and everything, even to the smallest prop, will be carried. A 60-foot baggage car will be required to transport the material used in the production.

After the opening next Wednesday night in Reno the company will leave immediately for Sacramento, which will be the first stop. From Sacramento it will continue north to Seattle and Portland and east to St. Paul. From St. Paul Miss Harned will travel east, playing in all the large cities where Manager Aylesworth has her booked.

At first Mr. Aylesworth planned for Miss Harned to play in Tonopah and Goldfield, but subsequent developments caused a new booking to be made which eliminated the southern Nevada cities.

ONCE WEALTHY MAN NOW AN OUTCAST

Once wealthy, having dissipated a fortune in this state, Dan Crawford was arrested Monday night, on a charge of selling whisky to Bill Bailey, an Indian.

The prisoner, who is 63 years of age, is a civil war veteran, according to his own statements. He was drunk himself when arrested and protested at his being placed in custody after having fought for his country.

The Indian stated that the white man had sold him a beer bottle full of whisky for a dollar. The villainous mixture termed whisky cost about 40 cents. Most of it had been consumed by Bailey before the police arrested him.

Crawford, inherited considerable money and spent it with a lavish hand while it lasted. It went the route of gambling, drinking and carousing, and he has been destitute for some time.—Reno Journal.
